

Greetings from the Chief of SME Gen. C.A. Paratrooper Carmine Masiello to Army Personnel

Published on 29/03/2024

In a solemn video conference held at Palazzo Esercito, the General of the Army Corps Paratrooper Carmine Masiello, Chief of Staff of the Italian Army, extended warm Easter greetings to all Army personnel, highlighting the importance of their daily dedication to the military institution and the Italian Republic. General Masiello, through the Corps Commanders and Corps Non-Commissioned Officers at every level, emphasized the fundamental contribution provided both on national soil and in international missions, in promoting the ideals of justice, peace, and freedom.

During the video conference, the Army Commander took the opportunity to share the guidelines of his mandate, emphasizing a key objective: the modernization of the Army. General Masiello's vision focuses on creating an armed force capable of expressing effective deterrence, recognized nationally and internationally as credible and persuasive.

To achieve this goal, the General highlighted the importance of a modernization process that affects all structures, focusing on technological renewal that involves every aspect of training and operations. The objective is to strengthen the Army's identity through the sharing of values and solid training, fundamental pillars for forging a winning and cohesive mindset.

General Masiello also stressed the importance of working as a single team, listening and responding to the needs of frontline personnel and remaining open to innovations that can improve the Army's efficiency and effectiveness. The shared vision is of an Army increasingly integrated into the international context, proactive in seizing innovation opportunities to best fulfill its mission.

Concluding his message, General of the Army Corps Masiello expressed confidence in the future, underscoring the Army's commitment to remain up to the challenges present and future, thanks to the strength of its values and the dedication of its men and women. The Easter greetings thus become not only a moment of festive sharing but also a renewed commitment to serving the Country.